

Letter from Editor

The Journal of Space Mixing began out of an interest I had in the publication of articles related to Space Mixing Theory. After a brief time of submitting manuscripts to existing scientific journals, I became aware that the theory does not fall clearly within the scope of existing journals because of its special connections between mathematics, physics, and philosophy.

I began to realize that since a scientific journal did not exist which was clearly appropriate for the publication of articles on space mixing, the logical step would be to create one ...and thus was born the Journal of Space Mixing.

Journal of Space Mixing is committed to high standards of academic excellence. It is published online and free to authors and readers. Hardcopy subscription is also available for your library.

I believe Space Mixing Theory is a new and exciting field of research and invite quality papers from all interested individuals.

Tom Manz, editor.

July 2003